
2012 Black Ministry Family Convocation
July 11-15, 2012
North Carolina A&T State University
Greensboro, North Carolina

The Coalition of Lutherans in Black Ministry in the Southeastern District LCMS is looking forward to seeing you in Greensboro in July under the theme "Sing to the Lord a New Song!" Our goals at this upcoming Black Ministry Family Convocation are:

- To experience worship and spirituality through a service with Holy Communion, Bible study and hymn singing.
- To explore effective ways to continue to stay connected as congregations in Black Ministry, and to be a driving force in the mission and ministry of the The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

The $140 adult and $100 youth registration fees include 2 receptions, a picnic and a dinner theater. The deadline for convocation registration is June 16, 2012 or until we reach capacity. There will be no onsite registration. Please mail the registration form to the address indicated.

Housing options are a choice two hotels and dormitory suites at A & T (there will be a linen charge yet to be determined). Housing information is enclosed.

We have airport transportation available, and you can use the enclosed form to make your arrangements.

More information will be sent as it becomes available.

If you have any questions, please contact Rev. James McDaniels at 336-402-4150 or revjmcdaniels@aol.com.

AFRICAN AMERICAN HISTORY TOUR

Wednesday, July 11, 2012

Depart at 9:30 AM – Arrive back at 4:00 PM

First stop at Charlotte Hawkins Brown Memorial Museum located on the former Palmer Memorial Institute, North Carolina's only state-supported historic site to recognize a woman and one of the first to honor an African American. This African-American preparatory school was established by Charlotte Hawkins Brown in 1902. Here you will watch a fifteen minute video and take a guided tour of the Canary Cottage, Dr. Brown's personal residence, which is now the visitor center, featuring artifacts, photographs, information on Dr. Brown, the Palmer Memorial Institute, and African American education in North Carolina, and much more. Lunch will be at K & W Cafeteria, and drive by Bennett College, the only historically African-American college for women in North Carolina. Then visit the International Civil Rights Center & Museum/Sit-it Movement Inc. The Woolworth building is where four NC A&T State University students envisioned and carried out the lunch counter sit-in on February 1, 1960, which ignited the 1960 National Civil Rights Sit-In Movement. The museum houses an array of stunning archival exhibits, artifacts, and the original lunch counter.
