

Concordia Theological Seminary, Fort Wayne, Indiana, is committed to providing learning opportunities for all with diverse topics and a variety of options. Here are just a few of the upcoming events at CTS:

DEALING WITH DARWINISM

Created in God's image or evolved from a lower species? Living in the promise of God's eternal care or survival of the fittest? These are some of the questions discussed everyday among students, scientists, teachers, and most every segment of the general population. Concordia Theological Seminary is providing an excellent resource to help answer those questions by offering Dealing with Darwinism, October 9–10.

Presenting at the conference will be Dr. Dean O. Wenthe, President, CTS; Dr. Adam Francisco, Assistant Professor of Historical Theology, CTS; and Dr. David Menton, Associate Professor Emeritus of Anatomy at Washington University School of Medicine. Dr. Menton also serves as a speaker for Answers in Genesis, which is the organization responsible for the Creation Museum located just outside Cincinnati, Ohio.

College and high school students, pastors, teachers, and parents will benefit greatly from this conference. Anyone interested in learning about Darwin and various ways to think about and respond to Darwinism will find the conference stimulating. For more information or to register, go to .ctsfw.edu or phone 260-452-2172.

INVITATIONAL CAMPUS VISIT PLANNED FOR PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS

Perhaps you have been thinking about the possibility of serving in Christ's church. You may have discussed it with your family and your pastor. If you are ready to take the next step in finding out how you might become a pastor or deaconess in The Lutheran Church–Missouri Synod, consider joining us for our Invitational Campus Visit being held October 22–24 on the campus of Concordia Theological Seminary. The ICV is for all prospective seminary students and their spouse/fiancée. We provide on-campus housing and meals free of charge. For more information, phone us at (260) 452-2155.

GOOD SHEPHERD INSTITUTE CONFERENCE MARKS TENTH YEAR AT CTS WITH BACHFEST AND PREACHING WORKSHOP

One of the church's best known and well-loved musicians is Johann Sebastian Bach. Attendees to the Tenth Annual Good Shepherd Institute Conference will get to know him anew through this year's theme of Bach in Today's Parish: Still the Evangelist, November 1–3, on the campus of Concordia Theological Seminary.

It is the hope of the conference organizers that this Bachfest will be much more than just a listening event but instead an experience that attendees can take home with them. “We wish this conference to be a practical application of this treasure of music as it relates to a host of topics—from bell choir repertoire to home devotions, from lectionary to children’s choir with flute, etc.” offers Kantor Richard C. Resch, Co-Director, Good Shepherd Institute.

There will also be an Advent Preaching Workshop entitled Proclaiming the Coming! Jeffrey H. Pulse, Associate Professor, Exegetical Theology, CTS, will be the presenter for the workshop that will run November 3–4.

For additional information concerning the conference and preaching workshop, or to register online go to .goodshepherdinstitute.org or call 260-452-2224.

The mission of Concordia Theological Seminary is to form servants in Jesus Christ who teach the faithful, reach the lost, and care for all.

For additional information concerning educational opportunities and events at CTS, please contact: Jayne Sheaffer, CTS Director of Public Relations, 260-452-2250 or @ctsfw.edu